District Attorney Reported to Be Indicted in Mills' Case Dismissal

AUTO INDUSTRY PREPARING FOR HIGHER OUTPUT

Ford Announces Plans to Produce at Least Million Cars in 1935

DETROIT, Nov. 1.—(UP)—

America's automobile manufacturers prepared for a prosperous year today, increasing their production quotas and spending millions to handle them.

Ford stepped to the front with announcement of plans to produce at least a million cars for domestic use in 1935.

Other companies likewise were prepared to step up production, although they did not predict specifically how much.

As the industry slowed down after an unexpected prosperous season, the manufacturers planned expensive expansion of the production facilities for next year.

Ford recently announced a $18,000,000 steel expansion program. Packard announced it was spending $6,200,000 for expansion. These and other firms are spending millions more in tools and dies for their 1935 models.

Automobile production this year, for consumption in the United States and 107 foreign countries, will total around 1,800,000. Ford already has produced more than 700,000 cars, although the 1934 quota was only 600,000. Plymouth, shut down now for the annual change-over, has put out about 350,000.

"Our experience during the last six months and what we see in the future tells us a year of improved business is ahead," Ford said today.

Alfred Reeves, vice president and general manager of the Automobile Manufacturers' association, said there were "strong prospects" that the automobile business would improve next year. Production this year is 41 per cent better than in 1933, he said.

Reeves reported foreign consumption is two and one-half times as much as in 1933. Ford expects a healthy market abroad, but because of the uncertain political situation in Europe, made no estimates of possible consumption there in 1935.

Suspension Of Students Is Protested

Stanford and California Dailies Say Freedom of Speech Banned

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 1.—With student dailies from other colleges and universities on the Pacific Coast belittling the "red" scare at U. C. L. A., several Los Angeles persons came to the defense of Dr. E. C. Moore's action in suspending five students for asserted subversive activities.

Among those who endorsed Moore's action were Harry Harper, president of the Chamber of Commerce, Mrs. Louise Ward Watkins, president of the Friday Morning club, Police Chief James Davis and Stuart McHaffie, commander of the Los Angeles Post of the American Legion.

While these officials and citizens were endorsing Moore's action, the students attending the Stanford University and Berkeley university in editorials criticized the suspension of the students at U. C. L. A.

"Freedom of speech and thought no longer exist on the Southern campus," protested the Stanford paper, while the Berkeley daily declared that U. C. L. A. must have an "awfully queer campus."

Threats of a student strike were made at a mass meeting of 300 students at the University of California at Berkeley as a protest against Provost Moore's action here. A majority of the students attending the meeting voted to strike "at some future date" unless the suspension action is rescinded.

Protest Voiced

At Los Angeles Junior college approximately 675 students were declared to have signed a petition demanding the reinstatement of the five ousted students. A student delegation of six went to present the petitions to Doctor Moore, however, were denied admission to the provost's office.

Celeste Strack, one of the five suspended students, and admitted a member of the National Student League, yesterday denounced the action of the university in ousting the five and declared she would continue to "fight for free speech."

"The issue is not Communism, but freedom of speech," she declared. "I will fight for an open hearing of the charges against the five of us, and if this is denied, we will carry the fight outside of the university."

She declared she had conferred with officials of the American Civil Liberties Union and that she would retain a counsel in her fight for reinstatement.

LAUNCH STATE WIDE SEARCH FOR HIT AND RUN DRIVER AS S.A. WOMAN DIES OF INJURIES

THE COMBINED power of city, county and state law enforcement agencies was called into action today to seek the driver of a hit-and-run car which struck and fatally injured Mrs. Mary L. Moore, 67, 1319 Bush street, as she was crossing North Main street near Washington avenue at 9 o'clock last night.

Five persons were hurt in two other wrecks reported to authorities last night.

Conflicting stories are told by bystanders near the spot where Mrs. Moore was hit by the car. It has been definitely established, however, that the sought car is a blue Graham-Paige sedan and a 1929 or 1930 model. The elderly woman was struck with such force that the metal emblem cap over the crank hole on the radiator was knocked from the car and offers the best clue for officers.

Police have issued a notice to garagemen and automobile supply houses to watch purchases of headlights, since one was broken on the missing car, and the glass scattered in the street. From the force of the impact, the front of the car is undoubtedly considerably damaged, officers declare.

Both Legs Broken

Mrs. Moore had both legs broken, one arm fractured and suffered internal injuries. She was rushed to the Santa Ana Valley hospital.

Address To Be Made At Open Forum

Record Crowd Expected to Attend Final Appearance in County

DECLARING that the political race in California has become a clean-cut contest between Merriam and himself, Raymond L. Haight, progressive candidate for governor, will address an appeal for election to voters of Orange county tonight, at an open forum meeting at the Fullerton Junior college.

Much interest is attached to the appearance of Haight in Orange county, since the withdrawal of George Creel's support from Upton Sinclair, and the refusal of federal government heads to sanction the Democratic candidate, is believed to have swung thousands of votes to the progressive candidate.

The speaker will outline a definite six-fold program for the government of California, setting forth what is felt to be concrete, practical and immediate reforms in the structure of the California state government.

Proposing certainty of relief, without doles or sham labor, Haight plans to institute an unemployment relief program consisting of state aid for cooperative self-help units, the coordination of state, county and city relief, a correlation of public works, and the development of subsistence plots for the unemployed.

"This is a workable plan for relief," he said, "and no visionary scheme."

Economy Pledge

Pledging himself to an economy program, Haight also proposes to consolidate the 9000 taxing bodies in the state, and to prevent the duplicating and overlapping of state governing agencies. "Sets of our state government have increased 947 per cent in the past 20 years," he states, "while population has increased by 148 per cent. This can and will be changed."

Tax reductions can be secured, he claims, first by spreading the burden without imposition upon individuals or groups; second, by the elimination of overlapping and duplicating of the governing agencies of the state, and the consolidation of essential governmental services. It is believed that a saving of more than $100,000,000 can be effected in state and local tax costs in this way.

Plans Reorganization

Announcing himself to stand unequivocally for the elimination of graft and crime, Haight proposed the coordination of the state police system, now embracing more than 400 separate policing systems, in addition to a complete revision of the existing methods of crime prevention and detection. "Our social and economic structures are dependent upon political integrity," he states, "and I propose to reorganize the various state departments upon that principle."

A record crowd is expected to jam the new auditorium at Fullerton to hear the dynamic candidate in his only campaign speech in Orange county. The forum is under the direction of Charles Ruby, of the Fullerton Junior college.

AT FULLERTON

Raymond L. Haight, progressive candidate for governor of California, who will speak at an open forum in Fullerton tonight.

EXPECTS TO RESUME HIS TRIP FRIDAY

Australian Fliers Held up By Discovery of Leak in Oil Tank of Plane

WILL TAKE 18 HOURS

Equipment Installed Today in Plane to Receive Radio Direction Beams

BULLETIN

HONOLULU, T. H., Nov. 1.—(UP)—The flight of Sir Charles Kingsford-Smith from Honolulu to the United States was delayed today for 24 hours.

The delay was caused by the discovery of a leak in the oil tank of the plane, Lady Southern Cross. The discovery was made by a mechanic while Kingsford-Smith and Captain P. G. Taylor, his navigator, slept in preparation for the flight to Oakland, Calif. Kingsford-Smith was to have taken off at noon Honolulu time (2:30 P. M. EST.)

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 1.—(UP)—

Bitter disputes in the Los Angeles county grand jury room today delayed a climax in the jury's investigation of the office of District Attorney Buron Fitts.

With the jury reported already to have voted to indict Fitts in connection with some phase of the investigation, bitter feeling flared with charges of Foreman John P. Buckley of a "leak" in the grand jury room.

Storming into the hall of justice yesterday, one man could have let the foreman charged.

Earlier today had denied that the grand jury had not voted to indict him, though he had gone into conference with prominent Los Angeles attorneys yesterday within a few hours after the jury adjourned.

The jury reached its final decision yesterday, although whether it would be an indictment or a verdict was not known.

Fitts' case was reached six days to a day from the time that the 1928 grand jury indicted Asa Keyes, Fitts' predecessor, on bribe charges.

The present grand jury inquiry into Fitts' office has been principally on two phases. In one the jury attempted to link the dismissal of "love mail" charges against wealthy John P. Mills with the sale of an orange orchard by members of the Fitts family to Lucien Wheeler, private detective employed by Mills.

The other phase of the investigation concerned Fitts' handling of financial affairs, principally his handling of secret service funds. These secret service funds, under state law, are made available to the district attorney by appropriation from time to time through the year. He accounts for the expenditures only as cases are closed.

Last year the secret service fund accounted for was approximately $157,000. The accounting of the fund is made to County Auditor H. A. Payne personally in the form of receipts showing detailed expenditures. This accounting is made a matter of record but considered semi-confidential.

ELLIOTT RETAINED FOR WATER SURVEY

G. A. Elliott, water engineer who headed the group of engineers which drew up the Elliott plan for water conservation and flood control in Orange county, has been retained by the board of supervisors to make a survey of the water situation in Orange county with the view of meeting government requirements for extension of government aid in a conservation and flood control plan, it was announced today by Supervisor Willard Smith, chairman of the board of supervisors.

Employment of Elliott to make the survey is the latest development of attempts made by the board of supervisors to get before government a plan which would be a works project and at the same time protect the interests of water users in Orange county.

Monnier allegedly demanded $50,000 of Mrs. Fox on a threat to kidnap her two grandchildren. He denied knowledge of the letter but government experts testified the writing in the note was his. #### HAUPTMANN WANTS TO MEET "JAFSIE"

FLEMINGTON, N. J., Nov. 1.—(UP)—Bruno Richard Hauptmann believes he can convince Dr. John F. (Jafsie) Condon that he is not the man who took the $200,000 Lindbergh ransom money.

According to Harry Whitney, chief defense investigator, Hauptmann expressed the hope of another meeting with Jafsie. Dr. Condon, after viewing him at the Hunterdon county jail recently, was understood to have decided Hauptmann was the ransom deliverer.

"If we talk long enough again Doctor Condon will see that I am not the man he gave the money to," Whitney quoted the defendant as saying.

Huge Throng Attends Annual Hallowe'en Festivities

ANAHEIM EVENT PRIZE WINNERS ARE ANNOUNCED

Said to be one of the largest crowds that ever attended a Hallowe'en festival in Anaheim, an estimated throng of more than 50,000 people filled the streets yesterday afternoon and last night for the annual festivities.

The fact that rain started falling just as the parade ended did not dampen the holiday spirit of the crowd. With an orchestra playing from the doorway of a vacant storeroom on Center street, more than a thousand people danced in the street until the rain became so severe that further dancing was impossible. At the city park theater more than 3000 people remained in the seats to witness the vaudeville show.

This year's parade was, according to members of the committee in charge of the celebration, one of the best in years. There were more beautiful floats and entries and more comic and grotesque entries than in several years. The music sections of the parade also were colorful. The judges had a difficult task in awarding ribbons for parade entries as all entries, both floats and single entries were regarded as being of such uniform quality.

Awards Announced

Their decisions, however, were: Most beautiful float, first, J. C. Penney store and Junior Ebell, second; comic float, Anaheim 20-20 club, first, and Anaheim Ebell club, second; most beautiful car, Loreta Dress Shop, first, and Saylor the Painter, second; comic cars, Safety Brake shop, first and Mitchell, second.

Jack Corn won first prize for stunts and the Town Toggery was second. Vernon Salceda won first prize for costumes and Barbara Jane Upsey and Lewis James were second. Mrs. Brinkerhoff was awarded first place for comic costumes and Miss Irene McCloud was given second place.

Parade judges were: Vic Lohy, chairman, H. H. Benjamin, Al Rutecki, Tom Aldridge, Harry D. Riley, Mrs. Arthur Kemp, P. F. Fink, L. Kersten, Mrs. Jameson and M. Marten.

Judged Tuesday night, the prize winning show windows were announced as: Vincent Furniture company, first; S.Q.R. store, second, and J. C. Morganthaler Electric shop, third.

Yesterday morning a kangaroo court, presided over by "Judge" George Holden assisted by Police Judge Frank Tausch, bailiff, Ernest DuBois, Harry Riley, Ray van Wagoner and others as policemen, did a land office business from its location on West Center street.

Fines assessed during the morning netted $18.30 which goes into the treasury for next year's celebration.

In the afternoon a large crowd filled the city ball park for the horse show and after the show paraded the streets enjoying the hospitality of Anaheim business men. The parade at night was followed by a vaudeville show in the city park theater and street dancing on West Center street. Other dances were held at the Elks club and Concordia club.

INFORMAL NEGOTIATIONS ARE OPENED FOR EXPERIMENTAL ATLANTIC AIRMAIL SERVICE

(Copyright, 1934, by United Press)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—(UP)—The postoffice department has entered informal negotiations with Commodore Hugo Eckener for experimental trans-Atlantic airmail service beginning next July, the United Press learned today.

Eckener, whose Graf Zeppelin has made many successful flights from the North African coast to Pernambuco, Brazil, has been called up by Harlee Branch, second assistant postmaster general to furnish in writing a proposition to carry mail by air to Europe next summer.

Branch conferred with the German dirigible expert here last Monday. The post office executive told Eckener that the department was very much interested in trans-Atlantic airmail service and asked the latter to submit a concrete proposition in writing as soon as possible.

During his conversation with Branch, Eckener said that it would be possible to fly mail to Europe by Zeppelin in approximately 48 hours, about three days less than required by fastest mail vessels.

The German indicated that a surcharge of 25 cents in addition to the regular five cents postage would be charged to carry mail by air. Flights probably will be made every 10 days.

Eckener plans to use the huge Zeppelin LZ129 now under construction at Friedrichshafen, Germany, for the experimental flights next summer. The LZ129, when completed, will be the largest rigid type air ship in the world. It will carry 50 passengers in addition to the crew and several thousand pounds of mail.

The Graf Zeppelin will continue in the South American service. Eckener told officials here that the ship was loaded to capacity on practically all of its flights last summer and that more mail was offered for transmission than could be carried.

LAUNCH STATE WIDE SEARCH FOR HIT AND RUN DRIVER AS S.A. WOMAN DIES OF INJURIES

where she passed away at 2 a. m. today. The body was removed to the Winbiger funeral home, where funeral services will probably be held at 10 a. m. Saturday.

The accident victim is the widow of the late William C. Moore, who passed away early this year, and she is survived by one son, Glenn A. Moore of San Diego county, a brother, Arthur Isbell of Hood River, Oregon, and a sister, Mrs. Alice Millward of Fresno. She was born in Cresco, Iowa, has lived in Santa Ana for 14 years and in California 45 years.

Coroner Earl Abbey has not set a date for an inquest, pending a complete investigation by the police department. The only witnesses located as yet by the officers are Miss Isabel McCormack, 112 Church street, and Miss Mary Coffman, 112 North Main street, who were at the rear of the Coffman home. They reported that a car approached at high speed, they heard the brakes skid and then the crash of breaking glass. They ran to the street just as a blue sedan stopped, paused a few seconds and then sped north, they told officers.

They said that the car had California license plates, which contradicted original reports that the hit-run car was a brown sedan with Texas license plates which was seen by several persons speeding south after the crash.

Passes Auto
G. U. Carter, 3000 North Main street, nearly drove his car over the prostrate form of the woman before he saw her, he reported. As he was driving south, a car going north passed him at Fourteenth street at high speed without lights, and in a reckless manner, he said. Carter was the first to reach the unconscious woman and helped others to carry her from the center of the street.

Police have requested anyone who was in the vicinity of the wreck to offer their aid in attempting to find the driver. A man pushing a baby buggy who was seen near the intersection is now being sought by the officers in the hope that he may be able to shed light on the crash.

The death of Mrs. Moore brought the total of traffic fatalities in the county this year to 47, three more than at this time last year. There have been no deaths since October 15.

Four Are Hurt
Four persons were hurt and narrowly escaped serious injury when a car driven by Russell Sullivan, 23, 1148 West Washington avenue, crashed into the rear of a car driven by C. V. Doty of Santa Ana, when Doty attempted to make a left turn on the 101 highway south of the Tustin high school last night at 9:15 o'clock.

Those hurt were Sullivan, Earl Homan, 1014 South Main street, Miss Charlotte Harnois, 414 East Walnut street, and Miss Katherine Spier, 517 Orange avenue. All were taken to the Santa Ana Valley hospital for emergency treatment.

Harry Douglas, West Eleventh street, 29, Buena Park, was taken to the Orange County hospital last evening with compound fracture of the left arm and broken ribs as the result of a wreck near Buena Park, when his car ran into a bank. No report of the accident has been made to traffic authorities.

FRIENDS OF DOKE ATTEND HIS TRIAL

WOODLAND, Cal., Nov. 1.—(UP)—Relatives and friends of Judeon C. Doke crowded into the courtroom today to witness the legal battle which grew out of the triangle slaying of Lamar Hollingshead, poet-paramour of Helen Louise Doke.

The accused man, whose life depends upon the decision of a middle-aged jury of farmers and housewives, smiled happily when he saw his friends, and particularly when he glimpsed his father, Dr. Charles H. Doke, and brother, Norman Doke, seated close to the railing.

Most of the friends were from San Leandro, where Doke was employed as city milk inspector when the romance of his wife and Hollingshead interrupted his placid existence.

Included in the newcomers was one, however, who was not expected to be classified as a friend of the defense. He was C. E. Pelton, sr., assistant city manager of San Leandro, who was to be called as the star witness for the state.

MEASURES ON BALLOT TOPIC FOR KIWANIS

Urging a favorable vote on propositions 3 and 14, Roland McNitt of the Southwestern University in Los Angeles, spoke on the subject, "Taking the Judges Out of Politics" at the regular weekly meeting of Santa Ana Kiwanis club yesterday afternoon in James' cafe.

Introduced by Arthur Corey, program chairman of the day, the speaker declared that the adoption of the two amendments referred to would do much to take politics out of the bench and would pave the way for the selection of a much higher type of judge.

He said that proposition No. 3 provides that a supreme or appellate court justice may declare his candidacy to succeed himself, but otherwise the governor will nominate the candidate. The candidate, he said, is the only one who would be voted on and voters would either vote for him or against him. This, he said, would raise the standards of judges. If he is defeated or a vacancy occurs, the governor appoints someone to fill the vacancy until the next general election. He said the governor's nominations or appointments would be ineffective unless approved by a commission comprised of the chief justice, presiding appellate court justice and attorney general. Provisions of this measure, the speaker said, could be made applicable to counties.

Proposition 14, the speaker said, applies peculiarly to Los Angeles county for the adoption of a new method of selecting superior court judges, of which there are 50 in Los Angeles county. Under terms of the amendment he said, the governor would appoint men to fill vacancies from recommendations by a board comprising the chief justice of the supreme court, presiding justice of the appellate district court and the county's state senator. Candidacy of each judge would be submitted to the people each six years.

The speaker told how the group that sponsored the changes believe that the appointive power should not be taken away from the governor, but that there should be a check in the form of the commissions to see that competent men are named, and not political appointments made.

Otto Jacobs spoke briefly asking a negative vote on propositions 9 and 17.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

TO AVOID BEING MISQUOTED

Here are the FACTS— in Black and White

Last year the Orange County Recorder's Office spent over $30,900 and made a profit of $6,185.94.

Riverside County spent less than $17,000 and made a profit of $10,977.66.

We do 1-3 more business than Riverside County.

So the conclusion follows that when our expenses are lowered until they are in a correct proportion to Riverside, our net returns will raise until they are at least double the present amount.

ABSENT VOTER
BALLOT RECORD
BROKEN HERE

All records for volume of absent voter ballots cast in an Orange county election threaten to be shattered at the approaching election, it was shown today, when County Clerk J. M. Backs announced that he had issued 753 such ballots, of which 230 already have been voted.

A total of 590 absent voter ballots cast in the election two years ago represents the standing record, said Backs. About 750 ballots were issued that year, but not all were cast.
Today is the deadline for making application for absent voter ballots. Such ballots can be received in the election up to the fifth day following the date of election.

DOWNEY TO BE HERE TONIGHT FOR ADDRESS

Sheridan Downey, Democratic candidate for lieutenant governor, and running mate with Upton Sinclair, is making his only Orange County appearance tonight at the Temple theater, in a meeting which will climax the campaign, according to Democratic headquarters.

Downey, prominent Sacramento attorney and author of economic books, was an early candidate for governor on the Democratic ticket, but withdrew in favor of Sinclair. Downey is a life long progressive and played an important part in the Inman investigation of the Ralph administration.

Sinclair, in urging all voters to vote for Downey as well as for himself in Tuesday's election, says, "I regard the election of Downey of such vital importance that, unless you vote for him, I would prefer you did not vote for me, either."

A large attendance from the entire county is expected at tonight's meeting, which will be the last public appearance, before election of Herbert L. Kenny, candidate for assembly from the 74th district, and of C. R. Allen, assembly candidate from the 75th district.

Radio broadcasts from the state wide Democratic network will proceed the speakers this evening at 7:30, and Sheridan Downey will also be on the air at 8:20, over station KREG.

A SAFER WAY to relieve constipation in any child . . .

This simple experiment has often meant a changed child, mothers.

A test that is easily made, and should be made, when children are occasionally upset or constipated.

Doctors urge a liquid laxative for children. The child who has been convalescing in a hospital, will usually come out with bowels working like a well-regulated watch. Hospitals give children a liquid laxative of suitable ingredients, suitable strength, and in suitable amount.

Children should never be given the strong cathartics that are meant for adult use.

So, avoid all use of mineral drugs, whether they are salts, pills, tablets, or "candy" form. Even once a month is too often to give any child a cathartic containing powerful drugs.

The Proper Treatment

Give that sluggish child a liquid laxative containing senna (a natural laxative), California Syrup of Figs has the right amount for children's use, and this rich, fruity syrup does not upset them.

Just give any headachy, bilious child a little of this gentle laxative when constipated, and a little less if dose is repeated until bowels seem to be moving regularly and thoroughly without need of help.

When you change to California Syrup of Figs instead of harsh medicines, you'll risk no more violence to your child's appetite, digestion, and general physical condition. You'll have a safer, more satisfactory result, too.

So, get a bottle of California Syrup of Figs from your druggist, and start tonight, if your child is constipated, giving a good, cleansing dose. Repeat as necessary, giving a little less each time. That's the secret of this treatment — gradually reduced dosage.

Here is a simple way of finding out if any youngster with irregular or insufficient bowel movements is in need of relief, or getting the wrong treatment:

THE "LIQUID TEST"

This is the way to relieve occasional sluggishness, or constipation in a child of any age:

First: select a liquid laxative of the proper strength for children. Second: give the dose suited to the child's age, and condition. Third: reduce the dose, if repeated, until the bowels are moving without any help at all.

An ideal laxative for this purpose is California Syrup of Figs which every druggist keeps in stock. Be certain that it is the genuine product, with "California" blown in the bottle.

Governor Merriam's Program

RESIDENTS of California face a far reaching political decision on next Tuesday, when they vote for Governor.

Taking advantage of public distress, and preaching a doctrine of class hatred and social antagonism, an extreme Socialist captured the Democratic party's nomination for Governor, and is now proposing a radical, impractical scheme.

On the other hand, Governor Merriam, — a capable and conscientious American wholly dependable in his proven devotion to the public welfare, — offers a constructive program of liberal Americanism.

Here is Governor Merriam's own statement:—

For Those With Jobs, I Will Strive:

1. To bring you security of employment through definite encouragement of business, industry and agriculture.
2. To insure you and your family against loss of work, by adoption of a practical and adequate plan of unemployment insurance.
3. To uphold your right to bargain collectively for increased wages, shorter hours, and improved working conditions.
4. To discourage pay cuts in both public and private employment and encourage establishment of a wage scale providing a decent living on American standards.
5. To fearlessly oppose radical or Communistic efforts on the one hand, or Capitalistic efforts on the other, to destroy legitimate organized labor.

(Note: The Legislature, under the leadership of Governor Merriam, is now developing a workable plan of unemployment insurance and will report in January.)

For Those Seeking Jobs, I Will Fight:

1. To see that no man, woman or child in California goes without food or shelter.
2. To discourage, insofar as it is within my power, the coming to California of more unemployed to compete with you in your efforts to find work.
3. To create new jobs through the medium of public works, the development of our great natural resources and constructive effort to promote the upward trend of business, agriculture and industry.

(Note: As a part of this pledge, the Legislature at the special session and on Governor Merriam's recommendation, adopted for submission to the people a proposed issue of State bonds in the amount of $24,000,000 for the relief of unemployment and distress.)

To Those Unable to Work, I Dedicate Myself:

1. To safeguard and expand the State's great humanitarian work for the sick, the disabled, the orphaned and the aged.
2. To heartily favor old age pensions and commend the Townsend Plan to Congress and the National Administration for thorough study.

(Note: In furtherance of this undertaking the Governor and the Legislature have already petitioned the President and Congress to supplement the State's present effective pension system for the aged by enacting a Federal old age pension law.)

Governor Merriam's record during the five months he has been in office, his character and sixteen years of public service, assure us an able, practical administration.

He will preserve the principles of reward for hard work and individual effort that have been the foundation of industry. He will keep California a state you will be proud to live in, and proud to have your children grow up in.

Go to the polls Tuesday. Vote for Frank F. Merriam for Governor and George J. Hatfield for Lieutenant-Governor. Give them the support they will need in accomplishing their constructive program, by voting also for the Republican candidates for the State Assembly and Senate.

To California Taxpayers, I Will Recognize:

1. That human needs must come before all other considerations; that property owners in financial distress must be given every opportunity to save their homes and farms.
2. I will see that public utility corporations bear their full share of taxes, without loading extra charges on to the public.
3. That all Citizens of California will share equitably in the benefits of economy and simplification of government, which are a definite part of my program.

(Note: Governor Merriam obtained the approval of the Legislature at the recent special session giving relief to home and farm owners from the burden of delinquent taxes and special assessments as well as from the immediate danger of loss of their properties through foreclosure of mortgages and trust deeds.)

To Educators and Teachers, I Propose:

1. To do everything in my power to maintain the present high standard of education in California. I am thoroughly committed to a continuation of the constitutional guarantees for the public schools; to teachers' civil service; to the maintenance and extensions of the teachers' retirement fund; to part-time and adult education.

To Members of All Parties, I Will:

1. Call into the service of the State the best type of citizenship.
2. Carry out a non-partisan, truly progressive, and All-California administration during the term of my office as Governor.

Frank F. Merriam
GOVERNOR OF CALIFORNIA

As Lieutenant-Governor, I will, if elected, do all in my power to carry to a successful conclusion the foregoing program of Governor Merriam.

George J. Hatfield

COOPERATION OF PROPERTY OWNERS ASKED

Soliciting the cooperation of every property owner in Orange county to insure the success of the Orange County Better Housing program, part of the national program to overcome many of the ill effects of stagnation in the building and allied industries, Frederick W. Sanford, who is director of the county program, today urged citizens to welcome the survey men who will call at their homes and places of business shortly.

These survey men, Director Sanford explained, will treat all information received as entirely confidential and will not use it except to aid the property owners themselves in taking advantage of the cooperation of the government, financial institutions, contractors and material dealers in making property improvements needed and at the same time help in restoring normal business conditions.

Director Sanford stressed the benefits which will accrue from the Better Housing Program with the cooperation of everyone concerned, pointing out that while the building industry will be the first to benefit, a large percentage of the money spent on making needed property improvements will flow into normal sources of trade through the paying out of a large percentage of the money in direct wages to labor.

Light showers which fell in various parts of Orange county during the night boosted seasonal totals somewhat, but brought little benefit to the county because of the scattered and light nature of the precipitation.

The United States weather bureau predicted probable light showers today with fair weather to night and tomorrow.

Santa Ana had received .10 inches of rainfall at 8 o'clock this morning, making a total of 3.20 for the season as compared with .60 at this same time last year.

No rain fell at Santiago Dam, where the rain is ordinarily most heavy. But a trace was reported at San Clemente. The heaviest rainfall up to 8 o'clock this morning was a Buena Park, where .23 inches was recorded. Anaheim still leads the county for rain this season with a total of 6.31 inches.

It was the first rain since October 18.

DRIVERS RECEIVING GOODRICH AWARDS

Since the program for Silver-town Safety League awards to truck, bus and taxicab drivers was inaugurated little more than a year ago by the B. F. Goodrich Company, 29,717 drivers have been presented awards for driving six months without an accident for which they were responsible. It is announced by Orval Lyon, manager of Silvertown Stores, Inc., at First and Broadway.

In the same period, 6518 awards for driving one year without an accident have been presented. During that period 39,988 drivers have taken part in the campaign to reduce accidents on the highways.

Each individual driver, upon completion of six months without an accident receives a Silvertown Safety League silver medal and a Silvertown Safety League emblem for his vehicle. Upon operation of his vehicle for a year without accident he receives a gold medal.

POLIOMYELITIS CASES DWINDLE

The last traces of infantile paralysis were rapidly fading from Orange county today, as Dr. K. H. Sutherland, county health officer, announced that only four cases of the disease remained in quarantine at the county hospital. All are hospital nurses.

The strict quarantine restrictions that were clamped on at the hospital some weeks ago when the epidemic was sweeping through the ranks of the nurses, were lifted some days ago, and almost normal routine prevails there now, said Dr. Sutherland.

POLICE RADIO STATION HAS BUSIEST NIGHT

Halloween pranks and the usual rowdiness kept police of the county on the alert last night but no arrests were made, lectures being given to the offending youths who were apprehended.

The radio police station reported its most active night since the system was installed. There were 57 calls dispatched by the station from 6 o'clock last night to 6 a. m. today, with Santa Ana leading with 25 calls. Huntington Beach police sent out 12 calls, Newport Beach and Orange each had six, Fullerton and the sheriff's office each had three and Anaheim had two.

Only minor damage in scattered areas was reported to Santa Ana officers, although the patrol cars were kept busy all night answering calls of disturbances. There were nine reports of windows being broken, five of children throwing fruit and rocks at houses, and one call each for trees being broken, breaking glass on the sidewalk and stealing signs.

Four Tustin boys were lectured by police for breaking windows on North Baker street while another was lectured after being caught for throwing rocks in Delhi.

Sheriff's officers took some youths into custody who were smearing red paint on the Valencia ballroom and another run was made to the Star cafe in Buena Park where a window was broken.

In addition to the regular operations of the fruit patrol, two other sheriff's cars were on patrol last night.

Some unknown persons may have been wounded last night after breaking down a fence on the ranch of Harold Sperry on West First street near the Santa Ana river. Sperry notified sheriff's officers that he ordered the parties to stop several times and finally fired a shot at their car.

TWO NEW FILMS AT BROADWAY TODAY

"One Exciting Adventure," with Binnie Barnes, new star, opens at the Broadway theater today with a second feature, "A Lost Lady," starring Barbara Stanwyck.

Played against a gay continental background, "One Exciting Adventure" concerns a notorious diamond thief. A cast headed by Neil Hamilton, Paul Cavanagh, Eugene Pallette, Grant Mitchell and others is featured.

"A Lost Lady" is the drama of a woman who sees her fiancé, Phillip Reed, murdered a few days before they were to be married, and of the things which happen to her when she goes to the Canadian woods to forget. Frank Morgan, Ricardo Cortez and Lyle Talbot have the leading male roles.

Short subjects include a travelogue, "Citadels of the Mediterranean," the second of a series of "Dumbbell Letters" oddities, and Register World News events.

Court Notes

Superior Judge G. K. Scovel has denied the suit brought by H. M. Dicker against John J. Dwyer of Anaheim, in which Dicker asked judgment for $302.25 alleged to be due as balance on a premium of $604.50 for a $10,000 insurance policy. Dwyer had paid half of the premium but refused to pay the other half. Dicker complained. The court, after hearing the testimony, held that no balance was due.

An action for divorce, charging desertion, has been filed in superior court by Ben F. Klippel against Alberta A. Klippel. The couple married at Anaheim September 30, 1924, and separated July 3, 1928.

H. C. Burrows paid a $2 fine in police court yesterday for failing to make a boulevard stop.

E. J. Vosskuhrer, 1516 West Sixth street, was given a $25 suspended fine in police court yesterday for violation of the city plumbing ordinance.

Fred Flores was committed to the county jail for 71-3 days when he appeared in police court yesterday.

5 BOOKED FOR DRUNKENNESS; TWO AUTOISTS

Five men were booked at the county jail last night for liquor law violations, including two for drunken driving and three for drunkenness.

Charles Williams, 33, Third and Flower streets, drove his machine into the rear of a police car at Stanford and South Main streets early today to start an exciting series of events which ended with his booking at the county jail for drunken driving.

Officers Joe Murillo and F. L. Grouard were forced to chase Williams after the crash, which ended at Maple and Edinger streets when Williams' car had a flat tire and crashed into a curb.

When examined at the police station, Williams was pronounced intoxicated to a marked degree and was found to have been in a fight previous to his arrest. He was taken to the Orange County hospital for emergency treatment for a broken nose, scalp and face wounds. He was later booked at the jail at 3:50 a. m.

John R. Hickey, 32, Anaheim, was arrested near Anaheim for drunken driving and was booked at the jail at 10:25 o'clock last night by California Highway Patrolmen Dan Adams and Ernie Sawyer.

George Blake, 34, 202 South Birch street, was arrested for drunkenness at First and Flower streets and jailed by Officers Murillo and Grouard.

Two men were booked for intoxication yesterday afternoon by Officer A. H. Westerman of Orange. They were Ivan Jones, 35, 135 South Parker street, Orange, and George C. Carter, 54, 405 South Glassell street, Orange.

SIDE SHOW FREAKS CAST VOTES TODAY

The fat lady and her boy friend, the human skeleton, as well as the rest of the freaks of the big carnival on East Fourth street, were doing the unusual, as usual, today.

They held their election today, instead of waiting until next Tuesday, 75 absent voter ballots being cast by members of the troupe, which includes a Merriam club.

J. C. Metzgar, in charge of Merriam headquarters in Santa Ana, brought a squad of notaries public to the big tent and photographs were taken of the voting event. The troupe members are residents of Los Angeles and expect to be away from home on election day, so are permitted by law to cast their absent voter ballots in advance of the election.

Deliberate Attempt to Fool Voters

Letters from four Government Departments relative to my record were only quoted in part in my opponent's advertising. Those parts were chosen because without the REST of the letter they hinted my record was false.

They were misleading. The truth is those letters CORROBORATE ALL MY CLAIMS. Ask Congressman Sam Collins.

SINCLAIR FOR GOVERNOR

This space is provided free of charge by The Santa Ana Register for the use of adherents of Upton Sinclair, Democratic candidate for Governor. Material herein is published by the authority of Harry Gerhart, treasurer and campaign manager of the Democratic County Central Committee.

Economics of Jesus

By Rev. Charles E. Malpas,
St. Andrews Episcopal Church,
Fullerton

For the life of me, I cannot see why these politicians are making their appeal on religious grounds of loyalty to Jesus Christ, to Him they must go for their vindication. This they cannot do. The economic program which they are espousing fairly contradicts every principle of the economic ethics that He taught. The most liberal interpretation of His economic gospel would read out of court any economic system that would make it possible for one per cent of our population to draw 59 per cent of our national income. (See "The Church and the Industrial Crisis," by Chaffee) Or that would let at least 40 per cent of our population suffer while there is super-abundance of everything for human needs. The cry of over-production is a falsehood so long as human need is unmet. Over-production for private profit, yes, but not over-production for human need.

CATHOLIC AUTHOR SPEAKS

Frank Scully, nationally known Catholic author and playwright, says: "We resent the dragging of God, the Holy Trinity, the Twelve Apostles, and the Ten Commandments into a campaign by Merriam's millionaires, who believe in none of them. To get where they are, they had to deny all these things six days a week and sometimes seven. For them now to try and win us over by proclaiming the heresies of their opponent doesn't move us at all."

SINCLAIR TELLS PLANS

By Upton Sinclair

To School People and Parents:

I give in this summary my attitude upon some of the pending issues concerning schools, parents and educational matters in California. As Governor, I do not expect to have final administrative control of some of these issues. But many throughout the state have asked me to state my opinions, and I do so gladly.

The first purpose of education under the Epic Plan will be "to recover our lost democracy." In a society which cherishes truly democratic ideals the fullest development of each individual will always make for the greatest good of society as a whole. Education, then, should help each individual to develop his endowments, abilities and skills to the highest degree of which he is capable; first, for his own satisfaction and happiness; second, for the fullest possible enrichment of society. Above all, mental and emotional attitudes and motives of action should be made social rather than selfish or egocentric.

Our public schools should be liberally financed. I oppose the attempts of predatory interests to reduce or eliminate the present constitutional guarantees of fixed sums per pupil. I would favor requiring the levy of a minimum district tax, and the establishment of an equalization fund to equalize educational opportunities throughout the State. I oppose the proposed "syncrotax" amendments as a particularly vicious form of sales tax. Adequate funds to support the schools and all other governmental functions can be raised through graduated taxes on incomes, inheritances, and monopolies of all forms, including the socially created values of land held out of use. Free schools being essential to the equal opportunity so necessary to democracy, I condemn the proposal which certain selfish interests are now making that the public high schools and colleges should be open only to those able to pay a tuition charge.

Teachers under the Epic Plan must be adequately trained as experts in their subjects and in teaching methods. They should be secure and free from domination of special interests, and from worry over possible loss of position or economic dependence after a life of service; free to teach the truth and lead their pupils in the impartial study of all sides of controversial questions.

I point to my books and campaign utterances to show that I have all my life been engaged in adult education. This will not cease to be the chief interest of my life when I become Governor. Nothing will please me more than to find that I can enlist the help not only of the teachers, but also of lecturers, musicians, artists, and industrial and professional experts. I hope to see the schools the functioning centers of community life.

I consider the close co-operation of the home and the school of utmost importance and would encourage parent-teacher associations in every community. The school should know whether its instruction is carrying over into daily life and family and social relations. I shall encourage the establishment of classes in parent education, and favor parent-teacher associations working for the best good of the children as individuals and society as a whole.

Improved educational opportunities will be a natural feature of my plan, and the field will be open to some of the most interesting and valuable experimentation and expansion in the United States.

In the first place, the present profit-inspired barriers between school and community life will have disappeared, so that the school may be used naturally as a helpful adjunct to the child's vigorous social and industrial experience. Then education can apply in full measure the fundamental principle that practice alone makes perfect.

In the second place, the schools will serve the community of adults as never before. It will be my pleasure as Governor to make available to them not only the free use of the schools as meeting-places, but also the services of the usual teachers and also artists in music, drama, sculpture, painting and the handicrafts and lecturers in the various professions.

Such schools, especially in their extended functions, will give jobs to hundreds of certificated teachers now out of employment.

My hope is that the voters of this state will help me to adapt the training facilities for youth so that our future voters will be prepared for a better California. The Epic plan means sharing and giving rather than getting—so let us educate our youth to accept and then endorse by so living.

UPTON SINCLAIR.

Goodell for a dwelling at 139 Sunset Terrace at $1932 and several small permits for extensions, additions, alterations and repairs. Among the latter were one to Richard M. ## COLDS Go Overnight

When You Take The Right Thing!

A cold doesn't have to run its course and expose you to serious complications. A cold can be routed overnight if you go about it the right way. First of all, a cold being an internal infection, calls for internal treatment. Secondly, a cold calls for a COLD remedy and not for a "cure-all." Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine is what a cold requires. It is expressly a cold remedy. It is internal and direct—and it does the four things necessary. It opens the bowels, combats the cold germs and fever in the system, relieves the headache and grippy feeling and tones and fortifies the entire system. Anything less than that is taking chances with a cold. Get Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine at any drugist, 30c and 50c. Ask for it by the full name and beware of dealers who offer substitutes.—Adv.

ASK VOTERS TO PONDER ON 11 QUESTIONS

1. Is it not true that the real crisis facing us is the unemployment problem?
2. Do you know that now every four employed in California must support one unemployed and his family?
3. Can you see anything wrong in the unemployed supporting themselves?
4. What has Merriam proposed to solve this 200 million dollar a year unemployment relief, except by attempting to shove the burden of this crisis off to the future by large bond issues?
5. Do you know that Sinclair's plan can put in operation at a cost to the state of 20-40 million dollars?
6. How are the Merriam forces trying to defeat Sinclair? Can you support a man who uses such tactics?
7. Have you let this unfounded propaganda influence your thinking?
8. Do you know why all the POWERFUL VESTED INTERESTS are supporting Merriam?
9. Could it not be because they know they will have to pay their share of state taxes on their LARGE INCOMES?
10. Have you been fair enough to listen to Mr. Sinclair broadcast?
11. Do you have the fortitude, the backbone, to vote your convictions? Will you let the boss dictate to you for his selfish tax protection?

CAMPAIGN MANAGER ISSUES WARNING

Richard Otto, campaign manager today issued the following statement:

"WARNING: Be prepared for the worst from our enemies. They plan on flooding the state with leaflets, handbills, newspapers and radio broadcasts. Lies, false statements, misrepresentations, misquotations and slander from the house-tops. If they tell you Sinclair is dead, don't believe it. If they show you a picture of him lying in a coffin, check it off as a fake and vote for him anyway. I swear to you that Upton Sinclair will not withdraw from this race under any circumstances. He is not made of the fibre that backs down or resigns. In this connection, I remind you that he is not a quitter—that his nature knows no discouragement."

THE AMERICAN LEGION AND CAPTAIN DON WILKIE

While the AMERICAN LEGION is properly barred from taking part in politics, it is the one organization best qualified to pass on the government record of an ex-serviceman. This was done recently by officers and the membership of Post No. 222 in regular session. Read what the POST COMMANDER has to say about it:

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

While it must be thoroughly appreciated that this letter is not to be construed as an endorsement of a candidate, either officially by myself or by the Legion Post of which I am Commander, I do want it known that in a sense of fair play in which many of my associates join me, that it is my clear duty to affirm that which I have seen and know to be facts, particularly when those facts may serve in removing malign doubts as to the reputation of one who served his country in times of great need.

I, therefore, state of my own knowledge that I have seen Captain Don Wilkie's commission as such; have examined confidential Federal documents referring to his distinguished service in the World War; have examined citations for the part he played in the destruction of enemy submarines as well as documents outlining his service in Naval Intelligence work. I also examined an offer from the Naval authorities to Captain Wilkie in which he was offered the rank of Lieutenant-Commander in the Naval establishment.

These documents were presented during a recess of a regularly constituted meeting of Post No. 222, Laguna Beach, at the request of the membership and all of those present were given an opportunity of seeing the letters and documents referred to.

Cordially yours,

(Signed) CLIFTON R. PETTIT, Commander
American Legion Post No. 222.

(NOTE: The original of this letter can be seen at Wilkie Headquarters
309 North Broadway, Santa Ana

And still certain non-service politicians persist in trying to sully that record

Put Up Your $100

Naturopathic Association of Orange County

Assuming that you are acting in good faith, despite the trick phrasing of your challenge, which might imply otherwise, and also assuming that you are equally anxious that the public should be fully informed regarding the true meaning of Amendment 17, we will accept your challenge on the following terms:

Place your cashier's check for $100 with the First National Bank in Santa Ana, subject to payment to the California Public Health League, Orange County Division, on decision of referee that said Public Health League proves that "Doctors licensed under Naturopathic Initiative No. 17 are authorized to use drugs and major surgery."

On evidence of such good faith on your part, the Public Health League will then produce its proof. (See quotation from the act below.)

As the challenged party, it should be our privilege to name the referee, but we will permit you to select any former superior court judge now residing in Orange county and actively practicing law. This should furnish a disinterested and competent judicial opinion on the question.

Put up your money! We will use it to further inform the public regarding the dangers of Amendments 9 and 17.

MERRIAM FOR GOVERNOR

This space is provided free of charge by The Santa Ana Register, for the use of the adherents of Frank F. Merriam, Republican nominee for Governor. Published by the authority of the Republican County Central Committee and American Democracy, which is composed of Democrats who are supporting Merriam.

EDITED BY J. P. BAUMGARTNER

MERRIAM HELD LABOR FRIEND BY E. HENNING

Gov. Frank F. Merriam's program for the inauguration of a five-day week and a six-hour day in California industry, which program was pledged in the Republican State platform, is a forward step which will go most of the way in solving the state's unemployment and economic problems, it was declared yesterday by Judge Edward J. Henning, former assistant secretary of labor of the United States.

"The 30-hour week is the one measure which will bring about the absorption in industry of all men and women willing and able to work, and Gov. Merriam is to be congratulated upon his wisdom and progressivism in having sponsored the proposal in California," said Judge Henning, a former Federal district judge in Southern California, and a leader in fraternal circles.

"The greatest virtue of the Merriam program is that it is in full harmony with similar programs in other states and other nations. The most menacing danger of other programs is that if California should attempt to cure unemployment by itself, without regard to the other sections of the nation, we would find ourselves flooded by the indigent and the jobless from those other sections. No program, no matter how practical or wise, would stand such pressure. You cannot cure unemployment in spots."

"This program of Gov. Merriam's is practically identical with that of the American Federation of Labor, and surely no man or woman employed or unemployed will question that the Federation has given its best thought over the years to the task of coping with unemployment and that its recommendations must be good."

Hold Fast To The Things That Are Good

"And they were stronger hands than mine
That digged the ruby from the earth."

It is quite apparent now—has been for some time, for that matter—that people who voted for the nomination of Sinclair are emerging from the confines of their emotional hypnosis into the realm of reality. Undoubtedly tens of thousands who voted for the nomination of the Epic candidate will not vote for his election.

And there are several reasons for this, the principal one being that already stated—but here stated again in other words,—that a great many people did not know what they were doing when they voted for Sinclair's nomination, but now do know what they would be doing if they should vote for his election.

Moreover, the Sinclair (or Democratic) platform for the election is quite different from the platform upon which he was nominated. In order to maintain any semblance of the ranks of Democracy support, the candidate who wormed himself into the ranks of Democracy under false pretense was compelled to emasculate his primary election platform to such an extent as to rob it of much of its allure to those who think the world owes them (and can give them) a living, and that Sinclair is the economic Santa Claus.

It is entirely natural that Sinclair's superficially plausible promises should have a strong temporary appeal to hundreds of thousands of unemployed in the state, but it is also quite natural that such appeal should lose much of its force under fire of searching analysis of those promises, and their careful examination by the sober second thought of electors.

Other tens of thousands who voted for Sinclair's nomination are those who THINK they do not pay any taxes. Even these, probably, could not be blind to the insupportable tax burden the Epic Plan would impose, but they were deluded—or deluded themselves—into the belief that the burden would fall entirely on "property owners"—that is, the owners of real estate. The educational character of the campaign has, to a large extent, dispelled this delusion, and this class of voters is awakening to the fact that EVERYBODY pays taxes with every purchase of every commodity—not merely the California sales tax, but a proportionate share of every other tax of every unit of government. The only taxpaying difference between the "property-owner" and the non-property-owner is that the former is doubly or trebly taxed in comparison with the latter.

Another class of voters, of large number and larger influence, to whom the Sinclair promises made strong temporary appeal, consists of idealistic and altruistic intellectuals, who are, or have been, emotionally unbalanced by the apparent, and even real, social injustices of our economic system. No right-thinking person can fail ardently to desire that our social order shall be purged of those injustices; but no right-thinking person can long believe, or even emotionally FEEL, that they can be corrected or eliminated by discarding all the time-tested principles that have been built into our social structure by a century-and-a-half of struggle by trial and error, and reaching out into thin air for something, anything or nothing to take their place.

Surely we should be forward-looking, even experimental, in our search for better things, but meantime we should hold fast to things we have that are good, that have been proven by the test of time and toil and sacrifice. And we should never lose sight of the fact that we have to deal with the world and with human nature as they are and not as we would have them be. If we sail uncharted seas in our search for better things, as perhaps we should, let us be sure we sail them in seaworthy ships, with capable navigators.

Surely we can look forward and go forward in search of better things without being rashly radical; and if we remember that Jesus Christ was a radical, we should remember, too, that He said "My Kingdom is not of this world." Our problems are of this world and this humanity as they are today, and not as we fondly hope and vainly strive that they may become.

"After me, cometh a builder—
Tell him I, too, have known."

FOREIGN TONE EXPULSED BY GOV. MERRIAM

It was the subtlety of the Sinclair Soviet program that enabled it to entrench itself during the earlier part of the campaign. It is so cleverly presented that it appears to be harmless, but underneath is the concealed reptile ready to strike at our democratic form of government, and destroy the constitution which has made this nation not only great but generous and unselfish in its attitude toward every other nation on the face of the globe.

That any man claiming American citizenship could offer such a treasonable program as that offered by Sinclair is almost inconceivable. That that form of government should appeal to any part of the clergy, or any college professor or public school teacher, is beyond the understanding of the average patriotic citizen, unless it can be explained that an over-educated liberal is deluded into the belief that actual economic slavery exists in this country.

It is hard to admit that excuse, as the most casual investigation reveals an entirely different attitude on the part of industry, and that view of the situation was endorsed by the recent convention of the American Federation of Labor in session at San Francisco which declared its unwavering faith in America and in American government.

Our trouble has been imported. It was brought to San Francisco by the alien Australian Briggs, who came near to absorbing for his Communistic clientele, control of the Longshoremen's Union. Strikes in other part of our country have been directly traceable to alien-Communist agitation. That the sensible laborer has detected the purpose of that agitation and has repudiated it speaks volumes for our workmen. It removes a great national danger, and has received from industry a promise of greater cooperation.

Business stagnation in California, while only temporary, was caused by the injection of Communism as represented by Sinclair. On the other hand we were fortunate to have that stalwart citizen, Governor Frank F. Merriam, representing the principles of our government as laid down in the constitution, who stood courageously and loyally for law and order as against force and violence. His attitude has been endorsed, if not by actual expression, by implied repudiation of Sinclair by the national administration, and his chief opponent, George Croel.

We have Frank F. Merriam still standing out firm and uncompromising for our democratic form of government, impartial politicality when state and national security is involved, and promising to the voters of California a continuation of the established rules of law and order as against the Sovietism represented by Sinclair.

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—So he married the boss' daughter, and was kicked upstairs.

One can't blame Clark Griffith for selling Joe Cronin, his son-in-law for $150,000, and being the payee in the richest deal in the history of baseball.

The owner of the Washington club asked $250,000 for his manager and shortstop when Tom Yawkey, the Boston Red Sox magnate during the world series.

And one can't blame Griffith for enabling his son-in-law to accept the best manager's job in the game, for that is what the Boston assignment is, with Yawkey's unlimited resources and willingness to spend. Cronin gets a five-year contract at substantially more than $20,000.

Yawkey's latest purchase swells his investment at Fenway Park to well over $2,000,000—$3,130,000, to be exact.

When T. A. Y. slipped the Cleveland club $25,000 in the Wesley Ferrell transaction, last spring, some statisticians figured that he had sunk $2,980,000 into his hobby and desire to give the Red Sox a front runner.

HERO OF THE HUB

The Cronin deal figures to be the most satisfactory closing by Yawkey. When you are putting out $30,000 for players like Dusty Cooke and Lynn Lary, you scarcely can go wrong even when you cough up $150,000 for a Joe Cronin.

Baseball men declare that Cronin, who celebrated his 28th birthday on Oct. 12, is worth $150,000 as a shortstop alone, and his demonstrated leadership enhances his value.

Long highly regarded there, Cronin, a personable Irishman, will be the most popular individual in

LAYDEN WALS AS BRISH-PITT STRUGGLE NEAR

BY GEORGE KIRKKEY

CHICAGO, Nov. 1.—Get ready, Pittsburgh, with your toughest linemen and your fastest, hard-hitting backs, because Notre Dame is coming with blood in its eyes and revenge in its heart.

Few gave a serious thought to Notre Dame's chances against Pitt until Elmer Layden, Irish coach, broke down and confessed today under heavy pressure that his team didn't have a chance. Notre Dame's plot to ambush Pitt unawares exudes from every doleful word of Layden's pre-battle statement.

Just listen, Pitt players. Layden speaking:

Our scouts tell us that Notre Dame is not ready for Pitt has a typically fast, big line, supplemented by as fine a set of backs as any team in the country can boast.

"The lack of experience of the Notre Dame players will place them at a disadvantage, for most of Pitt's men are seniors. We have only three seniors, Captain Valro at right end, Rocco Schiraldi at left guard and George Melnikovich at right halfback.

"As a result of our inexperience, Pitt should be able to score easily and often with its intricate offense by fooling our green players. Because of the stress on fundamentals, Notre Dame is not equipped with fancy scoring plays."

HANLEY DENIES BID FROM BRUIN SCHOOL

EVANSTON, Ill., Nov. 1.—(UP)—Dick Hanley, Northwestern football coach, today denied reports that he planned to resign at the close of the present season. It had been reported in the west that he was dickering for a job at the U. of California at Los Angeles.

"I know nothing about those reports," said Hanley. "I haven't had any offers and I'm not considering any."

PICK LA VERNE OVER SPARTANS

LEOPARDS RATE EDGE ON SPEED AND CONDITION

Lee Eisan, the little engineer of California's Golden Bears in the days of "Nibe" Price's coaching and Benny Lott's running, leads his La Verne varsity into the Municipal Bowl tonight for the piece de resistance of Santa Ana's independent football season.

Playing the Spartans Athletic club at 8 o'clock, Coach Eisan's Leopards are the first Southern California conference aggregation to show here in many years. The appearance is possible because of a bye in La Verne's regular league schedule.

La Verne is customarily a contender for the championship in its class, and even now is in the running despite an early defeat by the title-bound Whittier Poets.

La Verne beat Pomona, 7-6, and won from Caltech, 14-7. Perhaps the feature of the team's schedule was a scoreless tie with the crack San Diego State eleven. La Verne's defensive capability is indicated by its 12-0 game with the non-conference Loyola Lions several weeks ago.

Eisan teaches fast, colorful football, developing many plays that end in passes behind the line of scrimmage. His attack is not unlike that of the crack South Methodist U. Mustangs who knocked off Fordham with their unorthodox attack last week.

Coach Eisan's brother, Al, has followed in Lee's footsteps as a quarterback, and will call signals for the Leopards. The other starting backs are "Bud" Grady and R. Kelly, halfbacks, and Howard Glover, full. Grady and Kelly are speed-burners of 155 pounds.

The La Verne line scales off follows: Brownberger, 160, and Captain Ade Wright, 155, ends; Rightmer, 175 and Nordstrom, 185, tackles; Bewsey, 165, and Smith, 185, guards; Dickey, 180, center.

Coach Jack Casey has indicated the Spartans will open with Lee Boyle at quarterback, "Porky" Bell and "Speed" Parks at halfback, and end, Bob Drysdale and Dale Gilman, tackle; Foster Meacham and Bob Hafer, guard, and Lee Sitton, center. These compare favorably in size and experience with La Verne's line.

La Verne's line, although the Leopards have a decided edge in speed, condition and reserves, and are favored to win handily. To improve their reserve strength, the Spartans have signed a center, 12 Kamp, and two tackles, Hill and Ham.

The lineup:

PROMINENT RANCHER SWINGS SUPPORT TO WILKIE TO GET PROTECTION FOR FARM GROUP

Placing the stamp of approval of the agriculturist upon Capt. Don Wilkie for sheriff of Orange county, James Tuffree, prominent Orange county rancher, in a talk over KREG last night swung his support to Captain Wilkie and urged his election for the best interests of the farmer, as well as for other residents of the county.

After quoting substantiation of Captain Wilkie's previous record in governmental service by prominent government officers, Tuffree, speaking as a rancher who has suffered the loss of property under the present sheriff's administration, declared that the fruit patrol, which he said made an enviable reputation under the district attorney, now, under the sheriff, is being misused to "cheat the growers, fool the people and double the cost of the job, for which criminal deputies are paid." He named several definite instances to prove the points made.

"Ranchers and farmers have suffered long from depredations by thieves, ring leaders who take their toll annually in fruit, livestock, farm produce and pumping plant equipment," Tuffree declared. "Our homes have been robbed and premises pilfered because of inadequate protection."

Tuffree told how the present sheriff has called members of the fruit patrol, now called the farm theft detail, from their patrol duty at night to do night policing of coast communities and Mexican settlements.

"I asked Sheriff Jackson a chamber of commerce meeting in Placentia," the speaker revealed, "if he intended to continue to use our fruit patrol for duties other than farm theft. His answer was: 'Mr. Tuffree, after all they are my deputies and I will use them as, how and wherever I see fit.' To show the difference between this attitude toward the farmer by the present sheriff and the attitude taken by Captain Wilkie, Tuffree pointed out that at a meeting in Brea Captain Wilkie declared he would use the fruit detail, if elected, for what they were organized for, for rural protection."

Tuffree showed how statements made in political advertisements by Sheriff Jackson purporting to show the reduction in avocado stealing in Orange county, in reality applied to all avocados grown by Calavo growers in the state, and the facts were revamped to fit Orange county, while the credit really was given in large to Los Angeles officers.

"Fellow avocado growers," Tuffree asked, "is it not a fact that until a well known rancher in the north Villa Paris section killed the ring leader of an avocado theft ring too dead to skin, our sheriff was baffled?"

The speaker also questioned Jackson's claim that he was

AVOID UGLY PIMPLES

Does a pimply face embarrass you? Get a package of Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets. The skin should begin to clear after you have taken the tablets a few nights, if you are like thousands of others.

Help cleanse the bowels with Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets, the successful substitute for calomel; there's no sickness or pain after taking them.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets do that which calomel does, and just as effectively, but their action is gentle and safe instead of severe and irritating.

Thousands who take Olive Tablets are never cursed with a "dark brown taste," a bad breath, a dull, listless, "no good" feeling, dull complexion caused by constipation. Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound, known by their olive color.

Dr. Edwards spent years among patients afflicted with constipation and Olive Tablets are the immensely effective result. Take one or two at bedtime for a week. See how much better you feel and look. 15c, 50c, 60c.—Adv.

FULLERTON, Nov. 1.—Buses of the Fullerton union high school fleet travel approximately 125,000 miles a year and carry approximately 275,000 passengers, and have kept up that record several years without one serious accident.

The estimate is based on an average of trips, making 625 miles a day, and a load of 1375 passengers, considering 200 school days to the year.

George Boddy handles the transportation of school students. In addition to the 16 student drivers, he employs two full time mechanics, who spend part of the time driving.

The school this year added two new buses to the fleet. This brings the number to two 26-passenger buses; seven 40-passenger

WINTER 76 Quicker Starting GASOLINE

Increase of Pentane content gives you rapid-fire starting, faster warm-up, increased acceleration!

WINTER 76 contains more of the highly volatile yet stable pentane fractions of natural gasoline.

At the first touch of your starter these volatile elements spread evenly to every cylinder and ignite instantly—eliminating "cylinder starvation" and giving faster warm-up.

This protects your battery, reduces gasoline loss from "choking," and minimizes cold-motor wear.

And Winter 76 is so well balanced that you obtain this quick starting, fast warm-up advantage in addition to its high anti-knock and mileage qualities.

Enjoy summer performance from your car all winter. Try 76 today.

The Roosevelt administration is pointing itself for a vast public lending program in the coming 12 months that will be framed to take a sizeable percentage of the unemployed off the direct dole.
New Deal best minds are agreed that prolongation of straight-out cash relief for the jobless is impossible on the present scale. An already overtaxed federal treasury just won't stand it.

ATTENTION VOTERS

Do not be misled.

A proposition is known by its sponsors.

PROPOSITION No. 13 on the November 6th ballot is sponsored by extremists. These extremists seek the return in an aggravated form of the rejected Wright Act which was repealed by a disgusted citizenry less than two years ago. The vote was 1,459,835 for repeal; 658,351 against.

The people of California were sick and tired of super-crime, super-snoopers, graft, corruption, speakeasies, debauchery of children and the breaking down of respect for law and order generally. Yet Proposition No. 13 says that if you live, or have your place of business in a dry precinct, and possess a single bottle of wine or beer containing more than one-half of one per cent alcohol YOU ARE A CRIMINAL. Such beverages may not be possessed, transported through, manufactured, sold or offered for sale in a dry precinct. It is so drastic that no exemptions are made for even sacramental or medicinal beverages.

It will retard California's economic recovery by creating more unemployment in such dry areas through confiscation of business properties. It will be as unenforceable as were the repudiated Volstead and Wright Acts, upon which millions of dollars of taxpayers' money were needlessly squandered.

The present Constitutional Liquor Regulation Act is declared by the authorities charged with its enforcement to be "utterly unworkable." Because it has no "teeth," it is openly violated and licenses have even been granted to undesirable establishments near schools, churches and in residential areas. The Legislature's supporting administrative act is weak and unsatisfactory chiefly because it had to be hurriedly passed but can be strengthened. Both laws must be corrected and these abuses stopped.

The remedy is not the return of the vice and lawlessness of the Prohibition era but sane and enforceable liquor regulation keeping California in pace with the nation.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA BUSINESS MEN'S ASSOCIATION

running for Congressman-at-large from New York.

Since the First Lady started her campaigning, national Democratic headquarters here cares little what the voteless teacup gossipers of Washington think about this political innovation.

Mrs. Roosevelt has made it clear she wants to be regarded as an individual trying to give a bosom friend a lift but her speeches nevertheless are getting national publicity such as none others could unless they came from her distinguished husband. A troupe of women political writers are traveling with her and recording her pungent remarks in defense and explanation of the New Deal. Mrs. R's speeches may be directed at electing Mrs. O'Day but so far as headquarters is concerned they figure to help every Democratic candidate in the land.

IND.

Political writers who gather at the National Press Club here all ways are proud of their own election forecasts—at least until the returns are in—and they like to back their judgment with cash. As a result, the Club quarters these days are a flurry of bets and odds.

There is one State that seems to have the lads guessing. That is Indiana. You can get a bet quickly on the other apparently close contests but there is a great shyness about wagering on whether Republican Senator Arthur Robinson will win or lose to his Democratic opponent Sherman Minton.

One returning political analyst brought back word that a Republican Indiana editor thought privately Minton would squeeze through by about 25,000 votes. This failed to stir up any betting orgy.

NOTES

Congress will be asked to stiffen District of Columbia parole laws which have released murderers. . . . Virginia is stirred up over refusal of a hotel on a federal reservation to receive Jews.

. . . This hotel sells liquor despite Virginia's dry law. . . . Now that the vast Federal building program in Washington is nearly complete, planners are damned because no provision was made for parking in the area housing 50,000 employees.

Secretary Ickes has quietly dropped several big public works projects previously approved. . . . He's looking for more practical jobs that will put men at work immediately.

Senator Pat Harrison is getting set to challenge Secretary Ickes and Governor Pearson on Virgin Islands conditions.

NEW YORK

By James McMullin

REALIGNED

Leading financial sources with close and friendly Washington connections foresee a striking change in the political picture when Congress meets. They predict that conservative Democrats and even Republicans will find themselves lined up in a coalition to support the President more often than they will oppose him.

The American Legion's overwhelming vote for the bonus gives point to the realignment. The Legion's political prestige is back to normal and Congress will respond to its magic as warmly as ever. The only hope of blocking the bonus is for the President to get together with the right wing on Capitol Hill.

Nor is the bonus the only issue on which the administration and conservatives will be linked in a common cause. The central bank and the Connery 30-hour bill will be equally painful thorns to both.

Each of these will have powerful groups behind it—the Committee for the Nation and Senator Owen's Sound Money League in one case and the Federation of Labor in the other. In addition there will be a lusty clamor for mandatory inflation of one sort or another and even more radical conceptions are known to be simmering on congressional stewpots.

BACON

Keen observers stress the point that united conservative sentiment in the nation is undoubtedly stronger than the forces of united radicalism. But the radicals are very likely to get the upper hand on any given piece of legislation unless the conservatives combine. Mr. Roosevelt and many adherents of his New Deal philosophy are counted on the conservative side of this classification on the premise that they aim to preserve the fundamental American economic system by eliminating its abuses—not to destroy it.

Insiders interpret the President's friendly overtures to conservative business and financial circles as a keen move to get the army organized before it's tested in the field.

His continued insistence on concessions to liberalism at the same time is rated the proper strategy to win public approval—the only sure antidote to extremist experiments. Many conservatives agree they must cooperate to this end in order to save any part of their bacon.

MATCHES

Reports are current in high quarters that devaluation to 50 cents is probable before Congress convenes. This would fit the realignment picture by depriving the inflationists of part of their ammunition. The fewer matches radical legislators have to play with the fewer fires they can start.

BONUS

Now that the tumult of the convention is over New Yorkers familiar with American Legion machinery doubt that its skilled lobbyists will press so hard for the bonus as most people think.

The Legion lobby will be directly responsible to Frank Delgrano—the new national commander. Mr. Delgrano is a banker and it's known that his business associates aren't exactly keen to see the veterans dip their ladle into public funds.

A national commander cannot openly flout the will of the Legion but he can exert a lot of sub rosa influence on the ardor with which its declared policies are pursued. Delgrano's New York contacts doubt that he will turn on the heat for the bonus unless the Veterans of Foreign Wars threaten to recruit memberships too heavily by pressing the issue.

TROUBLE

Serious labor storms are brewing again in the automobile industry. Here are a few significant clouds now gathering on the horizon.

1. The Mechanics' Educational Society has been conducting an intensive recruiting campaign and is pointing for another tool and die makers' strike this month.

2. The auto makers have tried to offset this by placing their tool and die orders earlier than usual and by scattering them more widely than ever before. Changes in design for 1935 models will be held to a minimum as another precaution.

3. General Motors' third quarter statement—showing larger sales but smaller earnings—highlights an increasingly painful situation.

Last spring the industry tried to raise prices enough to meet increased wage costs under the code. But the public promptly quit buying and prices had to be scaled down. Now it develops that higher wages plus lower prices inevitably bite a large chunk out of earnings—even with increased volume.

Naturally the manufacturers are worked up about it. They want very badly to cut wages but so far they don't quite dare. They fear a damaging strike and possible complications with the government.

4. The Federation of Labor has chosen this delicate moment to press its 30-hour week demand for auto workers (as against the prevailing 40), a higher minimum wage rate and abolition of the merit clause in the motor code. The managements are as receptive to these ideas as a sunburn victim to a slap on the back.

5. The automobile code expires in a couple of days. Capital and labor both want it changed—but in opposite directions.

Put these all together and they spell trouble with a capital T. (Copyright, 1934 McClure Newspaper Syn.)

Carriers may earn 2000 points in the contest for each new subscription, for having perfect service during the contest and for conforming to the regular rules for collections from Nov. 10 to Dec. 10. Four ways to earn 1000 points are for each payment in advance on new subscription, payment in advance on renewal subscriptions for one year, for each one increase in number of subscribers on route, Dec. 1 over Nov. 1 and Dec. 15 over Dec. 1. For a payment in advance on a six month renewal, 500 points will be given.

New subscriptions must be taken for two months or longer and subscriptions turned into The Register office with request for credit to carriers will be honored. Two carriers cannot combine efforts and in case of a tie, winner will be determined by carriers having the most new subscriptions.

Circulation Manager R. M. Conklin is supervising the details of the contest.

FORMER CARRIER NOW OPTICIAN AT JEWELRY STORE

Dr. Harry L. Kendall, who is in charge of the optical department of the Gensler-Lee Jewelry store at Sycamore and Fourth streets, a resident of Santa Ana for many years, today extended an invitation to his many friends to visit his new offices and inspect the new and modern equipment which is there for corrective vision work.

The optician has lived in Santa Ana since 1904 and was graduated from the local high school. He was one of the carriers of The Register when he was a student here, having carried papers on routes six and nine for the newspaper in 1912.

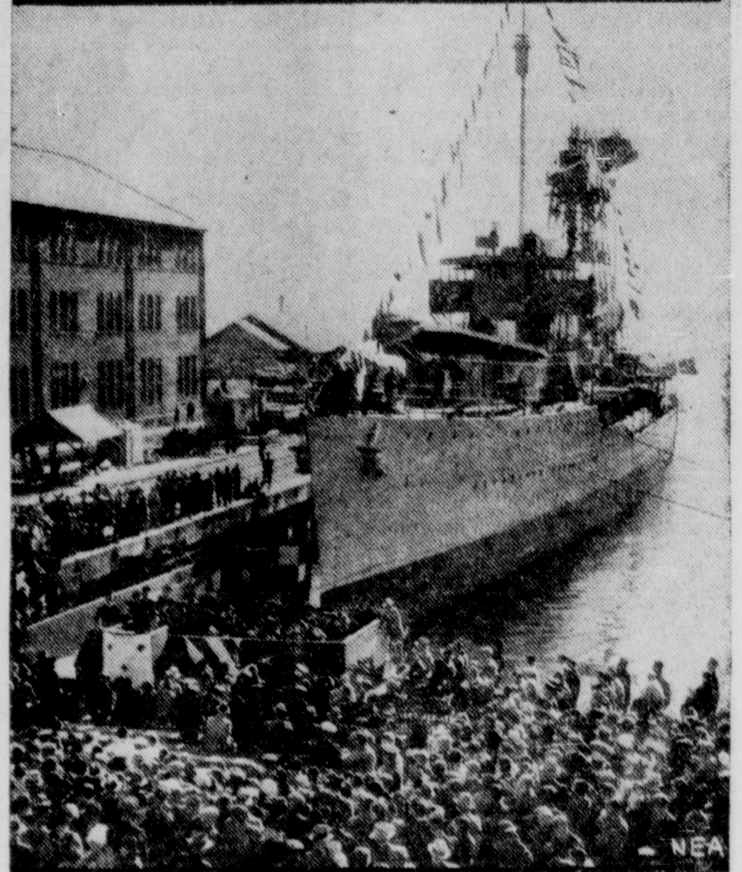

Following his service in the World war, he has been travelling for several years and after joining the firm of Gensler-Lee expressed himself as being "tickled to death" to come back to his home town.

Destroyer Launched Navy Day

A "bigger navy" feature of the Puget Sound observance of Navy Day was the launching of the new 1500-ton destroyer Worden at the Bremerton Navy Yard. The vessel was built in the yard's shipbuilding dock, and instead of sliding down ways into water, it was launched by flooding the dock until the Worden floated.

HOBBY OF SANTA ANANS TURNS INTO FLOURISHING BEGONIA NURSERY BUSINESS

A hobby that became a livelihood. Such is the history of the Rinehart Begonia Gardens at 1415 East First street, a specialized nursery business that in seven years has grown from a little potted begonia, purchased for its waxen foliage, to a nursery housing more than 400 varieties of begonias and 80 varieties of ferns, in addition to coleus plants, a few rare orchids and other varieties of flowers and plants.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Rinehart, proprietors of the begonia gardens, actually started that enterprise when Mrs. Rinehart became interested in a small potted begonia displayed in a Santa Ana store several years ago. Their next purchase was a set of four varieties, and from that small beginning, their interest increased until a few years ago, while they were living on Kilson Drive, Mr. and Mrs. Rinehart converted their entire backyard into a conservatory devoted entirely to begonias and a few ferns.

By that time the hobby had developed into an actual business, for they learned that there was a steady demand for foliage plants, especially those that also produced the lovely waxen blooms that distinguish begonias.

Turns Into Business. A year ago, their business developed beyond the point where it could be run as a hobby in the limited space afforded by a city lot, and the present spacious Begonia Gardens on East First street was the result. Rinehart himself devotes all his time to the plants, and is now building a larger glass house for additional varieties, and developing other foliage plants.

Among the latter is an unusual species of peperomia, whose heart-shaped leaves distinguish it from the more familiar varieties, and which promises to be in great demand by eastern nurserymen.

Plants from the Santa Ana Garden go all over the country and there is a steady demand from florists for the fine healthy stock grown in this city, as well as patronage from local flower lovers and from tourists passing on the boulevard.

Some idea of the attention given this local plant may be gained from the fact that an article appearing recently in the New York Florists' Exchange (a magazine for florists and nurserymen) on a poinsettia flowered geranium propagated by the Santa Ana grower, elicited a telegraphic request for 100,000 young plants be-

CLUB TO AID IN RED CROSS DRIVE

Santa Ana Lions club has pledged itself 100 per cent to push the annual roll call of the American Red Cross on November 6, to the best of its ability.

At a recent meeting of the organization its members promised by mutual vote that all business firms in Santa Ana would be reminded of the date of the Red Cross membership drive, to aid in securing Santa Ana's quota of 2000 members.

With such cooperation from the Lions club and similar Santa Ana clubs Mrs. F. E. Coulter and Miss Lulu Miner, chairmen of membership for the local chapter of the Red Cross, feel that their efforts will be well rewarded, and that every old member will renew his or her membership and hundreds of new friends will join on the one day set apart for that purpose, Election day.

Memories of 1917 and 1918 will be evidenced at each polling place in Santa Ana where the corps of women who have volunteered to put over the Red Cross Membership drive, will have tables placed for that purpose each wearing the well known headpiece of the Red Cross which was so much in evidence during wartime days.

"Don't forget your Red Cross membership dollar on Election day," is Mrs. Coulter's admonition.

The convention, opening Tuesday, has drawn an attendance of several hundred women including a large number from Santa Ana. It comes to a close today with addresses by Miss Josephine Seaman, president of California Federation, and by Dr. Theodore G. Soares.

Santa Ana has been well represented on the program. Dr. George A. Warner, pastor of First M. E. church, addressed the clubwomen Tuesday afternoon on "A Picture With a Sequel," in which he emphasized the fact that the world needs a great objective, a re-statement of values and a philosophy of control.

Mrs. Jacob Bohlander of Santa Ana Women's club, led the American Homes division of the Wednesday morning forum on "Industry at the Crossroads," and presented Frederic Sanford of this city who explained the housing act. Musical numbers of each session were arranged by Mrs. H. M. Sammis of San Diego, formerly of Santa Ana where she was a member of Eboli society and prominent in music circles.

One of the outstanding features of the three-day session was the panel discussion of "Organized Opportunity." Leaders of various organized women's groups thus proved to be working for similar principles and ideals. Taking part were Mrs. Florence Bayz, president of Southern District Business and Professional Women's clubs; Mrs. W. A. Patton, representing P. T. A.; Mrs. Nora Parker Coy, American Association of University Women; Mrs. L. B. Waggoner, adult education, and Mrs. B. F. Warner, the district federation of which she is retiring president.

Clubwomen in Costumes Of Hallowe'en Enjoy Merry Luncheon

Probably no group has entered into celebration of the Hallowe'en season with more enthusiasm than Santa Ana Woman's club, whose members met Tuesday in the Doris Kathryn, for a luncheon and program planned by Mrs. R. A. McMahon and her committee. Mesdames Earl Ladd, E. M. Walcott, Blanche Hackleton, G. G. Lawrence, Herbert Johnson, F. B. Hornbeak, P. R. Arnold and William Almas.

Chrysanthemums and colorful decorations were used for the tables and there were Hallowe'en symbols everywhere including a particularly convincing ghost. Mrs. R. G. Carman, president, introduced Mrs. McMahon as the titular master of ceremonies. The latter's first duty was to lead a march to the magic kettle from which everyone drew fortunes with prizes for the lucky few.

Mrs. P. R. Arnold portrayed a witch most successfully. A balloon blowing contest was won by Mrs. Frank Ely and a milk drinking contest was won by Mrs. Carman over her nearest competitor, Mrs. E. D. Froeschle. Mrs. Ladd did a clever ghost dance with Mrs. Hackleton at the piano and the "Three Little Pigs," portrayed by Mrs. Waycott, Mrs. Almas and Mrs. Hornbeak, did an amusing sketch ending with their flight from the Big Bad Wolf, portrayed by Mrs. McMahon. Mrs. Herbert Johnson, assisted by Mrs. George Lawrence, gave a fashion review with Mrs. Hackleton at the piano, and the gay affair closed with award of prizes for unusual costumes.

Mrs. H. D. McVain easily scored first in her role as a Negro dandy, wearing formal full dress suit complete with opera hat. Mrs. A. A. Schlusman, Mrs. Earl Ladd and Mrs. Mary Cowley were other winners. Mrs. McMahon as general chairman, had assistance of a decorations committee composed of Mrs. George Lawrence, chairman, and Mesdames Waycott, Ladd, Froeschle, Johnson and D. V. Wilson.

He graduated from Goldfield high school and pursued his college studies at Christian Brothers college in Sacramento, and at St. Mary's, Oakland. His bride completed high school in Dayton, Nev., and since then has been postmistress at Silver City.

The wedding of the young couple was a quiet affair attended by only a few close friends. For this event, the young people, garbed in carnival costumes, invaded the big barn at the Kenneth Dawson home in Tustin. There were Spanish caballeros, dons and donas, colonial fables, Chinese maidens, clowns and cowboys and even a weird skeleton to join in the merriment, but of all the amusing costumes that chosen by Ronald Vincent, who appeared as an infant, was awarded the prize.

Jo Ann's party had much of its setting in the garage, where lanterns, witch and black cat figures formed decorations. Prizes in contests were won by Marilyn Yost and Dickie Briggs, first; Roberta Johnson and Jimmie Froeschle, second. Refreshments were served at a gayly appointed table.

Guests were Marilyn Yost, Patty Hunter, Marceline Heilberg, Betty Ann Huffman, Mary Hall, Roberta Johnson, Frances Howard, Betty Louise Vernon, Joan Forgy, Bobbie Crenshaw, Dickie Briggs and Jimmie Froeschle.

Details Are Revealed Of Junior Eboli's Annual Ball

Arrival of November brings to a focus the plans of Junior Eboli members for their big annual dance, a formal function scheduled for Saturday night, November 17, in the assembly room of the clubhouse.

This dance, whose proceeds are used by the young women to further their welfare work in the baby clinic at Santa Ana Valley hospital, is always anticipated as one of the leading events of the winter social season. This year, under the general chairmanship of Miss Lolita Mead, workers are planning for a fun and frolic that will equal if not surpass those of previous years.

They will introduce an innovation in one respect. This is the plan to make it a program dance, and already the committee is engaged in designing programs in keeping with the desert motif which will distinguish decorations. While the party itself will open at 8 o'clock, the programmed dances will begin promptly at 10 o'clock.

Miss Mead as general chairman, has appointed a number of committees including Mrs. George Walker, publicity chairman, and Mrs. Burt Zaiser, chairman of decorations, assisted by Mesdames Carl Loerch, Robert Heffner, John Newman and Frank Jordan. Mrs. John Newman, in charge of music, has secured the popular Jo Lindbaum orchestra of Long Beach.

Miss Anne Tarver, assisted by Mrs. Dorothy Selway, will have charge of preparing punch, fruit for which has all been donated. Mrs. Clarence Siemonsma heads a committee on tickets composed of the Misses Isabel and Betty Bond, Juana Harmon, Katherine Smith, Florence Brownridge, Mesdames Robert Heffner, Robert Guild, Colby McKinney, and two special workers, Mrs. F. F. Mead Jr. in Orange, and Mrs. E. F. Bruning to contact ex-Junior Eboli members. Mrs. Siemonsma, who distinguished herself last year by making the most ticket sales in the organization, offers a prize to the successful saleswoman this year.

Dance hostesses also are sending invitations to other groups to join in the festivity, including 20-30 club, Fifty-Fifty club of Southern California, Fullerton Junior Chamber of Commerce, Orange Lions and the Comus club.

Schoolmates Invited To Merry Party

Young girls of Miss Elsie Carter's sixth grade class at Spurgeon school enjoyed a merry Hallowe'en party this week when they were invited as guests of Miss Barbara Thwaite, entertaining from 6:30 to 8 o'clock in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Thwaite, 814 South Sycamore street.

Mrs. Thwaite had made the home an appropriate setting for the gaiety by the use of all the creatures of Hallowe'en tradition, black cats, owls, witches and hobgoblins, with many pumpkin jack o' lanterns. In this setting a motley crew of ghosts, imps, fairies, clowns and gypsies, joined in a merry games program.

Voting on the best disguise, guests were unanimous in awarding the prize to Patricia Sharpley, who appeared as "Amos" of the famous radio team, Amos and Andy. Glenn Jean Deardorff was acclaimed for wearing the prettiest costume, a ruffled red satin gown in Spanish style, with lace mantilla.

As a finale to the merriment, Mrs. Thwaite, assisted by Miss Jeanne Thwaite, arranged card tables with covers and napkins in Hallowe'en design, for serving appropriate refreshments. They were assisted in serving by Bonnie Smith, one of the gayly costumed guests.

Party guests regretted that one of their class members, Margaret Showalter, was not sufficiently recovered from her recent operation to join them.

Present were the Misses Barbara Thwaite, hostess, Patricia

ANN MEREDITH'S MIXING BOWL

EAT AND GROW SLIM

Breakfast
Orange juice, 1 glassful
1 cup plain boiled rice with
1 tbsp. diced dates and
1-3 cup creamless milk
1 cup coffee with
1-4 cup hot skim milk, no sugar.
Calory total: 300.

Of course, if you don't like boiled rice you may substitute a bowl of flaked cold (packaged) cereal with the dates and milk, or you may have 3 tbsps. of hot cooked cereal, any kind.

Children love desserts! They'll eat their way through the necessary amount of bread and milk with good grace if they know a dessert is to follow. Desserts for children must be simple, not too-rich, pie and cake of adult meals, but simple desserts for children aren't as easy as they sound. Here's one they'll love:

The dessert requires cold sweetened apple sauce, little ginger cookies, the kind you buy in packages, and a little whipped cream. Call them Pagoda sandwiches, for they look like a pagoda when put together... first a cookie (in a sauce dish) then a thick spread of apple sauce, another cookie, and so on, until it is built as high as you think their appetites will lead them. Top off each pagoda with a peak of whipped cream and see if they don't vote the new dessert a jim-dandy.

Yellow Turnip Souffle
2 1/2 cups mashed yellow turnip
2 tbsps. butter
1 tsp. minced onion
Salt and pepper
2 eggs; whites beaten stiff.

Saute onions in butter until soft but not a mite brown. Add the mashed turnip, season and mix.

Beat the egg yolks well and combine with the turnip mixture, beat whites stiff and dry and put through the turnip quite thoroughly. Bake in a shallow buttered casserole for 20 minutes, oven set for 400 degrees F. Serve immediately after taking from oven, for if there is any waiting to be done, it must be done by the family, never by the soufflé.

TWO NEW BOOKS REVIEWED FOR CLUB MEMBERS

ORANGE, Nov. 1.—Two books, both depicting the life of the Pennsylvania Dutch, were discussed at a meeting of the Book club Wednesday in the home of the president, Mrs. Mabel Faulkner, North Center street. The first of these was "D for Dutch," by Thomas Williamson.

Mrs. Faulkner stated that the book reveals the kindness of the people to their animals and a disregard of the comfort of their wives and help. An undercurrent of a belief in "hexing" is found in the volume which she stated is dramatic in quality.

The other book where scenes are laid in a Pennsylvania Dutch town, was "Magic Mirrors," by Elsie Singmaster, a happier book with the hummers, a family headed by a father who drives a drey for a brewery, as the leading characters. This book, says the club president, shows the ambition of this young people to leave behind the Dutch customs and language.

Members of the group, discussed a number of books among which were "Most Women," by Wab; "Dusk at the Grove," by Samuel Rogers; "Mary Peters," by Mary Ellen Chase, and "The Inevitable Louisiana," by Cornelia Meigs.

Those present were Mesdames Robert Campbell, C. S. Parker, W. C. Pickett, Dian Gardner, Helene Gardner, Kemper Anderson, George Peterson, Grace Van Moore, C. F. Rowell, Marah Adams, Earl Elson, Miss Eulabelle Smith and Mrs. Faulkner.

THE TINYMITES

When Coppy reached the ladder top, he said, "Would be an awful drop from here down to the ground. I feel as dizzy as can be."

"Gee, so do I," said Duncy, who was right behind. "It's up to you to crawl right through that window, and then tell me what you see."

"Aw, wait a minute! First, I'll yell. That is the wisest way to tell if someone's in this castle," replied Scouty, with a frown.

"I don't think there's a thing to fear, but if you're scared to stay up here, I will investigate alone, and you can climb right down."

And then he shouted, "Hey! Hello! Who's in this place, I'd like to know!" He waited for a little while, but there came no reply.

"Well, I am going in," said he. "Come on, now, Duncy, follow me. We'll crawl right through the window. I have pushed it 'way up high."

The other Tinymites below, cried, "Where you go, we're going to go!" Then, up the ladder they all quickly scrambled, one by one.

Of course, brave Scouty took the lead. Said he, "Some nerve is all you need. No doubt, in this big castle, we will have a lot of fun."

From room to room they wandered and soon Windy shouted.

(The Tinies are prisoners in the next story.)

USE EXPLOSIVE IN ATTEMPT TO GET OIL FLOW

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Nov. 1.—Crews on the Dome well on the east side completed perforating the oil sands in the well by the use of one of the new perforating guns yesterday. The well is being pumped today and whether or not it is a commercial oil producer will be determined within two or three days. Indications are favorable for a good well, it is said. During the attempt to perforate, the gun, after being lowered to the bottom and raised to be sure of the distance at which it was to be fired into the lowest sand in the well, became stuck.

The gun, loaded with high explosive shells, was fastened to a dangle cable and because of the danger of breaking the cable, a fishing tool had to be lowered into the well. Pulling a gun loaded with TNT out of a well 4500 feet deep with jerky fishing tools was a hazard the workmen did not relish but they succeeded in removing the gun without an explosion.

Later the gun was lowered and fired at the point where the oil sand was drilled through. According to oil men, the gun is so powerful that it will shoot through two thicknesses of oil well casing and a layer of cement and open holes into the formation to permit the oil to flow into the well. The gun method of cementing and perforating is used when the oil and water sands are very close together.

A string of casing with no perforations is set from top to bottom of the well and cement forced up behind the casing, shutting off use of the gun after accurate measurements with formation testers and water testers the casing is perforated exactly where desired in order that only the oil or gas may enter the well. This is the first time this method has been used in this field.

H. L. Sherman, retired engineer and civic leader of Newport Beach, heads the committee, assisted in the work by Harry L. Parks, Balboa island member of the city planning commission; F. D. Lewis, Corona Del Mar, and Harry Welch, secretary of the Newport Harbor Chamber of Commerce. R. L. Patterson, city engineer, will act in an advisory capacity to the group.

Until September 11, city drinking water was drawn from the city wells, one mile inland from the coast highway, north of Newport Beach, on Bushard road, where the city owns five acres of land. Since September 11 water has been drawn from the Laguna Beach wells, located just across the road from the Newport site. Seepage of sulphur into the wells resulted in the closing order.

The city owns 93 acres of land near the site of the present wells, it was explained, and 34 acres west on Talbert road. It is from the latter location that the water will probably be drawn, according to city officials. Drilling work will be undertaken as soon as the civic committee reports.

Classes in practical Spanish will be conducted by Lester Flinck; voice, Leland Green; home economics, Miss Alma Shackelford; public speaking, D. S. Jordan. Two men stood almost in the center of the room. One of them was slender with stooped shoulders. He had dark eyes that were round and very bright, like small, shining buttons. The man's face was sallow and lined. There was nothing about the face that suggested youth, yet he might have been young. Anywhere from 25 to 40. His clothing hung loosely and was wrinkled. One arm was kept close to his side. There was a band about the wrist of the man who stood beside him.

McNeal said, "Well, Parrott, here are some newspaper men to see you. Boys, this is Joe Parrott." The man with the stooped shoulders said nothing. His sullen lips twitched faintly.

Parrott stepped forward. "How're you," he said easily. "My name's Parrott—of the Post. Have a cigarette."

talked of books and plays and authors was the same girl who had gone to Tracy King's apartment with a revolver in her handbag. He remembered that she was the same girl who had sworn she did not know Tracy King—until police had confronted her with the fact that Denise Lang had seen them together. Then she had admitted the truth. Oh, yes! Bannister thought, with reddening cheeks, of the story she had told him about going to the orchestra leader's rooms to ask for a job. It was not her deception that cut so deeply—it was the fact that he had believed it.

The UNKNOWN BLOND

He reached a corner and turned. The cold wind rushed at him, almost taking his breath away. He had left the down town buildings behind and there was nothing now to break the wind. The houses on either side of the street were low, set well back in wide lawns. Bannister began to regret his decision to walk home. He had a dozen blocks to go yet. There was nothing to do but pull up his hat down more firmly, turn up his coat collar and plunge ahead.

He covered two blocks, three and then four. It was so dark now that he scarcely noticed the neighborhood through which he was passing. He met a small boy with a dog on a leash. Otherwise the street was deserted. He encountered no one else until he turned a corner two blocks from his aunt's home. Then just ahead he saw a small green-clad figure. He recognized her instantly.

SUPREME COURT PROTECTS RIGHTS OF LOS ANGELES VOTERS

A great many people who are jealous of the rights of citizens were disturbed and alarmed at the attitude that was taken in Los Angeles county by certain interests and the courts, even supported by a judge, in apparently attempting to disfranchise thousands wholesale, practically without a hearing or without service of papers.

Again we want to emphasize our gratitude for living under a constitution that is interpreted by able and conscientious judges in the supreme court, who, when they had the matter before them, issued a restraining order against this action in Los Angeles county, and Justice Landon of the supreme court delivered himself of comment on it, which we all should read, in consideration of such infringement upon personal rights. He said:

It outrages every principle of justice and fair play. In brief, it attempts to cut off the constitutional rights to vote of over 24,000 defendants, without personal service of any kind, and upon a purported service by publication of this mass of names, without addresses and not even in alphabetical order on a single occasion in a newspaper of some 1500 circulation.

However pure and patriotic the motives behind it, the proceeding should never have been commenced. It should have been stayed immediately by this court on application for an alternative writ of prohibition in accordance with the uniform processes of this court.

Peremptory writ of prohibition should now issue restraining all further activities in the respondent court in this matter and all others heretofore, should be annulled.

NUMBER 19 EMBODIES GOOD PRINCIPLE

Number 19 on the ballot, a constitutional amendment, is a provision, the principles of which, we believe, should receive the support of the voters.

This amendment would prevent the state legislature from creating a state indebtedness in excess of $300,000, unless it was authorized by a majority of the people. It further would reduce the period, within which the bonds representing the debt must be paid, from 70 years to 40 years.

It would, however, permit certain bonds to have a longer life and these are bonds issued "for the acquisition, development or distribution of water and water resources, including electric energy," which are limited to a life of 70 years.

We believe that the purposes of this amendment are entirely good and that the voters and particularly the taxpayers should support the principles embodied in it. There has been some question raised from a legal point of view as to whether the language of this measure expressed clearly the intent of the legislators.

This, however, is very frequently the case. In fact it is usually the case and the final construction as to its meaning would be before the supreme court. While it appears that those who drew up this amendment were mixed up in their language and it may be that it should be put over until it is worded better, yet the elements of value in it are such that it wouldn't be out of the way if it were supported and later corrected, even though the sponsors for it have withdrawn their support of it.

NUMBER TWENTY DESERVES SUPPORT

The assembly constitutional amendment number two proposes stock ownership by cities in mutual water companies. This adds a section to article four of the constitution and it provides that any city of the fifth or sixth class may acquire and hold stock of any mutual water company, for purposes of furnishing a supply of water for public or municipal purposes or for the use of the city's inhabitants. It further grants all privileges or imposes all obligations of stockholders upon the cities.

This provision will simply aid small cities in getting their water supply under conditions where they are unable to do so themselves. There is no doubt of its beneficial character and it should receive the support of the voters of California.

Vote "Yes." It appears on the ballot as number 20.

NUMBER 21 WOULD AMEND CONSTITUTION

In considering senate constitutional amendment number 48, which will appear on the ballot as number 21, we have come fully to the conclusion that it should be supported.

We believe that we cannot state better its purposes or objects than to repeat, in part, at least, the arguments presented for it by the three senators, Herbert C. Jones of Santa Clara county, Walter Duval of Ventura county and Ralph Swing of San Bernardino county. They said:

The purpose of this amendment is twofold:

1. To extend to metropolitan water districts, municipal utility districts, municipal water districts and water conservation districts the same privilege and authority as now vested in irrigation districts, drainage districts, levee districts, reclamation districts, municipalities, counties and the state—namely, the right to take possession of property sought for rights of way immediately upon payment into court of the amount fixed by the court as compensation.

2. To extend this right to cover lands to be used for reservoir purposes, as well as lands to be used for rights of way.

The recent development of the state, especially in the way of water resources, has brought about types of districts which are especially designed for their particular purpose and which handle projects for irrigation, reclamation, levee protection, water conservation, etc., that cannot well be handled by the city or even by the county. These districts in some instances embrace parts of several counties and appear to be the only suitable agency for handling their particular projects.

It has long been the policy of this state, approved by the people of California that sovereign agencies such as the state itself, or counties or cities, should have the right, when lands are required for rights of way such as roads and highways, to take immediate possession upon payment into court of the amount fixed by the judge to cover any award by the jury as the value of the land. This same authority, so far as concerns land for rights of way, also now exists in the case of irrigation, drainage, levee and reclamation districts.

The reasons for this policy are obvious. Unless the state highway authorities, or the county or city, could take possession, upon payment into court of the amount fixed as compensation, of property required for highways, roads or streets, private property owners could hold up for years the construction of our highways. Since the sovereign agency must be entitled to eventually obtain the required property, it has long been recognized that the practical and sensible thing was to allow the public agency to take possession at once so that construction work and development would not be delayed.

With the increased need for conserving and utilizing our water resources this same authority is found necessary in so far as applies to lands for reservoir sites. If the policy is wise as to rights of way for roads, streets, canals and ditches, it would seem to be equally sound and necessary in the case of reservoir sites.

Likewise, the authority which is found necessary for irrigation, drainage, levee and reclamation districts should obviously likewise be available to the new and recently created types of districts, such as metropolitan water districts, municipal utility districts, municipal water districts and water conservation districts. . . .

An owner of private property can in no way be injured by this amendment, for he is protected in his rights by full compensation, whereas the people as a whole are greatly benefited in enabling projects to be constructed immediately instead of being subjected to long and expensive delay through the arbitrary action of an individual property owner in refusing to accept a reasonable price for his property.

Students Will Dig Up Their Ancient History

San Bernardino Sun

Pick and shovel are to be part of the equipment of 100 university students in Roumania in a coming school history course. The plan might be described better by saying that they are going to study history by means of archeological research. The site of the undergraduate digging is to be at Gradiste in Roumania. The immediate goal is the excavation and reconstruction of one of Roman Emperor Trajan's old strongholds, buried beneath the debris of 18 centuries.

The diggers are volunteers from the University of Cluj. They are to be housed and fed by public subscription, which suggests that the populace is expected to take considerable interest in the work. A Roman forum, a temple, a stadium and valuable inscriptions are among the treasures hoped for if all goes well.

The project has its appeal and makes many an old grad decide that he was educated 30 years too soon.

Without Thinking

The Oakland Tribune

Traffic rules, aimed at the safety of the American citizen, whether he walks or rides, are violated more often than any other set of regulations. In the opinion of the Oakland Chief of Police, who has been studying the national statistics, they represent "the greatest single factor in the crime problem of America."

Of course, the majority of those who disregard the rules do not think they are committing crime. They are in a hurry, have taken chances before, and reason that they may take another. It is even true, and such is human nature, that the most flagrant of violators will become incensed when his neighbor misses a signal.

The old-time attitude of elbowing our way to seats in streetcars or to place before a ticket window, has been carried to the streets with the added dangers because those who "elbow" are in control of powerful and heavy mechanisms. They do not even mean to be impolite, but they fail to think, fail to be good citizens, and kill a number of thousand persons each year.

Touring in Mexico is Stopped Until Spring

The San Bernardino Sun

This is not the time to begin that long-desired motor trip into Mexico. The Mexican government has closed the road to Mexico City.

Both ends, it seems, have been constructed, but there is a long bad place in the middle. This section goes over mountains, and the new road is not yet finished. For a time tourists were allowed to go over it, slowly and painfully, as they do so often over roads under construction in this country, but they were always getting stuck in the mud and having to be rescued or otherwise making trouble and delay for the workers—not to mention the fact that they were always in danger of going over steep cliff edges and ending their Mexican vacations before they began.

For these reasons, the Mexican government shut off the road at the advent of the rainy season, hoping to open it, much nearer completion, in the spring.

A SONG OF HOPE

Whenever I ask a garage man
To report on my little old car,
He looks at the brake,
Gives his head a sad shake,
And observes: "She won't run very far.
I'll have to put in a new lining,
That bum one is sure to give out;
Then the bus will break down
While you drive into town;
It will cost you eight dollars—about."

When the brake has been given attention
A rattle starts under the floor,
And shortly I learn
To my poignant concern
That the bus will not run any more.
Again I consult the garage man
Who furrows his brow in a frown,
And says with a sigh:
"The juice has gone shy,
The battery's badly run down."

I always am buying replacements;
When I dish out my hard-earned cash
On a gasoline tank,
I hear a loud clank
And the gear box breaks down with a crash.
But what is the sense in repining?
Why not drown out my woes with a song?
I need only to pay
For repairs every day
And I'll have a new car before long.

Thoughts On Modern Life

BY GLEN FRANK

ROOSEVELT COURTS BUSINESS

Since his Sunday night talk to the nation via the radio on September 30 President Roosevelt has shown signs of a conscious wooing of business.

I have been enormously interested in this shift from castigation to courting. And I have been equally interested in the response of business to this shift in manner, however slight and subtle it may have been, as this response is mirrored in the talk of individual business men with whom I have talked and in the business press.

I am not at all sure that the Presidential shift in manner means a deliberate shift to the Right. If it were possible to get inside Mr. Roosevelt's mind, my guess is that we would find him still convinced that "national planning" is possible, quite in the manner of Mussolinian Italy and Stalinian Russia, without department in spirit from Jeffersonian Democracy. And my guess is that Mr. Roosevelt is still convinced that political leadership must increasingly give rather detailed marching orders to economic leadership.

In short, I doubt that Mr. Roosevelt has recanted much of the skepticism of private leadership or relaxed much of his confidence in the superiority of public leadership in the field of economic policy.

I do not say this in a critical spirit.

Honesty compels us to admit that private leadership has not come to bat with very inspiring suggestions.

But nevertheless the President is castigating business a little less and courting it a bit more. Why? I shall write to this question tomorrow.

TEARS

"Mother, mother, Danny is crying."

"O dear, O dear, bring him right in here. There, there, Danny, don't cry. Don't cry like that, it makes mother feel so bad to see her little boy cry. Come, I'll dry your tears. And here's a sugar cookie all nice and sugary for my Danny."

"Ma, give me two cookies."

"Two? One is a lot for a little boy. Now, now, don't cry. Never mind. Mother'll give you another cookie if you want one. Eat that first. There's a good boy. And what was he crying so hard for, Tommy?"

"I don't know. He was playing mud pies and all of a sudden he just began to cry like that. I didn't think anything happened to him."

Children's tears are their weapons of defense against a cold world. They bring comfort when one other offers. They bring help and sympathy in time of trouble. Children are quick to discover this and quicker to profit by it. Unless they are limited in their use of tears they overdo them and become tyrants. Does a teary child feel lonely he raises his voice in lamentation and at once companionship, comforting and kind is furnished him. Does he feel like dominating somebody his tears are turned on and the slave reduced to obedience. Tears are his tools and he uses them skillfully.

What effect has all this upon the tearful one? It makes him weak and dependent. It makes him selfish. It stunts him intellectually. The child who never has to make his own road through difficulties never exercises his intelligence. Teary children are usually stupid, not by endowment but by acquisition. About the only lasting quality tears breed is stupidity.

There are times when a child has to cry. When he is badly hurt it is just as well that he cries. When he needs to inform his guardians that he is unwell, unhappy or uncomfortable and has no other forms of expression; he must cry. Our duty it to make certain that he cries legitimately.

The child who cries for everything, in season and out, is a spoiled child. His tears are his way of getting his will and wish. He soon becomes a nuisance. When this is evident training is in order. Begin by sending him to wash his face. Tell him that when he cries he is to cry privately, where nobody can see or hear him. Keep sending him to wash his face until all signs of tears have vanished.

Give the crying child nothing to cry for so that he learns the real utility of tears. Experience teaches him very soon that tears bring him nothing but isolation and a session with the washbowl. He does not like this and will soon avoid such experiences if his parents and teachers are consistent in their training.

It is easy enough to tell the true tears from the staged ones. And there is a difference in the note of distress. Any experienced mother knows the cry of pain and fear and can tell at once whether the call is genuine or merely winceable. If you happen to have a teary child instead of running at his first wail until he arrives and then hand him a handkerchief and direct him to the washbowl. He will soon change his ways.

(Mr. Patri will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and school teachers on the care and development of children. Write him in care of this paper, enclosing a three-cent stamped, addressed envelope for reply.)
